Course Description:

This course is for students who intend to enter a professional program and may require a refresher in key mathematical concepts applicable to their education and professional goals. It will provide students with a multidimensional, contextual learning experience for the acquisition of pre-requisite content and skills in mathematics including concepts, terms, expressions, applications, equations, and problem-solving. The course will cover basic math skills, fractions, decimals, percentages, ratio and proportion, basic algebra, equations, metric system and problem solving. (5 weeks, 40 hrs.)

Learning Outcomes:

As a result of active participation in these sessions, a student can expect to:

Demonstrate a high level of understanding and accuracy in the following areas:

- Whole Numbers
- Fractions
- Decimal Numbers
- Percentages, Ratios, and Proportions
- Positive and Negative Numbers & Order of Operations
- Equations
- The Metric System

Course Format:

This course uses a variety of teaching/learning methods including discussion, personal reflection, experiential exercises, student presentations, role-plays, group activities and especially case studies. Our faculty aims to create a learning environment where the learner is actively engaged in inquiry, critical thinking and problem solving. The classroom provides you with a place where you can learn with and from others in a cooperative and collaborative manner.

You are expected to take a very active part in class discussions and take responsibility for your own learning. Be a positive and co-operative team member. Columbia College uses a facilitation model of instruction where the facilitator's role is to facilitate your learning. The expectation is that you will come to class prepared with pre-class homework completed. Your facilitator will engage you in activities that are based on your completed homework and readings. Your enthusiastic and positive approach in the classroom will create an atmosphere that will help every student develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes that are needed for success.

How you conduct yourself in our classes will, to a large extent, mirror your conduct in society and your future work site. For example, if you have a tendency to ask questions, challenge the ideas of others in a respectful manner, draw out the best from your colleagues, and encourage both group development and task accomplishment in this class, it is likely you will do the same at work. A high level of student involvement and developing professionalism is expected in the classroom as you work towards your goal.

Required Textbooks and Equipment:

Columbia College Math 101 Workbook

Raines, V. (2010). Basic Math Review for Nurses. Philadelphia: F.A. Davis Company

Homework Assignment Due for the First Class:

Review the basic skills you may have forgotten. The basic times tables are critical. You can download an app for your phone (search in the Play Store/App-Store for "Multiplication Flash Cards" or visit multiplication.com and use the "Multiplication Games" link to find "Flash II."

Chapter 1 in the Raines Textbook. If you have forgotten how to do anything, go to MathAntics.com and watch the videos on that topic.

Write down the types of questions that are still confusing for you on a piece of paper to hand into the facilitator before class.

Evaluation - Assessment of Student Performance:

The final grade in the course will be based on the following elements. Wherever possible facilitators will use rubrics to assess your performance and offer feedback.

Title of Assignment/Examination	Due Date	Weight
In Class Review Assignments	Class 5 & 8	20%
Daily tests	Daily	30%
Final Exam	Class 10	50%

Please note that all homework and assignments are due at the beginning of each class.

Grading:

Grades for each component will be added together at the end of the semester. The final total will be translated to the Columbia College's 4.0 grading scale as follows:
