Facilitator: Kim Platt

Email: kjsgemmel@hotmail.com

Class Time: 8:30 am – 5:00 pm (Saturdays)

Room: 805-109

Credit: 3

Prerequisite: None

Note: It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with the information contained in the Course Outline and to clarify any areas of concern with the facilitator..

Course Description:

This course will explore applied communication theories and principles in resolving conflict and management of crisis situations. Students will be provided with skills and techniques to intervene with competence and confidence in conflict and crisis situations. An additional area to be addressed will be suicide intervention. In this course the student will receive training in crisis management and successful students will receive a Non-Violent Crisis Intervention Certificate.

Learning Outcomes:

As a result of active participation in these sessions, a student can expect to:

1. Define the common terminologies, concepts, and models in the study of conflict and crisis intervention.
2. Discuss the formula for understanding the process of crisis formation and for increasing functioning (leading a client out of a crisis).
3. Explain, analyze and apply the ABC model of crisis intervention and its various components.
4. Create a script using the ABC model of crisis intervention.
5. Apply various communication techniques to de-escalate crisis situations.
6. Apply non-violent crisis intervention strategies.
7. Critically assess each of the strategies and techniques used for assessing conflict situations.

Course Format:

This course uses a variety of teaching/learning methods including discussion, personal reflection, experiential exercises, student presentations, role-plays, group activities and especially case studies. Our faculty aims to create a learning environment where the learner is actively engaged in inquiry, critical thinking and problem solving. The classroom provides you with a place where you can learn with and from others in a cooperative and collaborative manner.

You are expected to take a very active part in class discussions and take responsibility for your own learning. Be a positive and co-operative team member. Columbia College uses a facilitation model of instruction where the facilitator's role is to facilitate your learning. The expectation is that you will come to class prepared with pre-class homework completed. Your facilitator will engage you in activities that are based on your completed homework and readings. Your enthusiastic and positive approach in the classroom will create an atmosphere that will help every student develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes that are needed for success.

How you conduct yourself in our classes will, to a large extent, mirror your conduct in society and your future work site. For example, if you have a tendency to ask questions, challenge the ideas of others in a respectful manner, draw out the best from your colleagues, and encourage both group development and task accomplishment in this class, it is likely you will do the same at work. A high level of student involvement and developing professionalism is expected in the classroom as you work towards your goal.
