Lecture 1

Course Outline

Semester Dates: August 01, 2016 – September 03, 2016

Please note that when a holiday falls during the week, your class will be rescheduled for the Friday of that week. Students are required to make arrangements to be present at the rescheduled class.

Facilitator: Brittany Vine

Email: brittanyv@columbia.ab.ca

Class Time: 5:30 pm – 9:30 pm (Mon/Wed)

Room: 805-113

Credit: 3

Prerequisite: None

Note: It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with the information contained in the Course Outline and to clarify any areas of concern with the facilitator.

Course Description:

This course will serve as a practical introduction to the field of sociology. Students will be able to identify and explain the significance of some of the phenomena, methods, and theories of sociology; differentiate between sociological and other questions, theories, and approaches; and interpret a variety of data arrays in order to assess and make sociological arguments. Related theory, research and analysis related to the field will be examined.

Learning Outcomes:

As a result of active participation in these sessions, a student can expect to:

- Identify and explain the significance of some of the phenomena, methods, and theories of sociology.
- Differentiate between sociological and other questions, theories, and approaches.
- Explain in your own words some of the key concepts of sociology.
- Interpret a variety of data arrays in order to assess and make sociological arguments.
- Contribute to a group analysis of "both sides" or opposing viewpoints on a controversial issue.
- Compose and present an individual position paper on a controversial issue using course materials and concepts.
- Apply the concepts, theories, and principles learned from this course to hypothetical situations.
- Communicate information learned from this course to both specialist and non-specialist audiences.

Course Format:

This course uses a variety of teaching/learning methods including discussion, personal reflection, experiential exercises, student presentations, role-plays, group activities and especially case studies. Our faculty aims to create a learning environment where the learner is actively engaged in inquiry, critical thinking and problem solving. The classroom provides you with a place where you can learn with and from others in a cooperative and collaborative manner.

You are expected to take a very active part in class discussions and take responsibility for your own learning. Be a positive and co-operative team member. Columbia College uses a facilitation model of instruction where the facilitator's role is to facilitate your learning. The expectation is that you will come to class prepared with pre-class homework completed. Your facilitator will engage you in activities that are based on your completed homework and readings. Your enthusiastic and positive approach in the classroom will create an atmosphere that will help every student develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes that are needed for success.

How you conduct yourself in our classes will, to a large extent, mirror your conduct in society and your future work site. For example, if you have a tendency to ask questions, challenge the ideas of others in a respectful manner, draw out the best from your colleagues, and encourage both group development and task accomplishment in this class, it is likely you will do the same at work. A high level of student involvement and developing professionalism is expected in the classroom as you work towards your goal.

Students must have a minimum of five (5) academic references (Wikipedia will not be considered a reference), and use APA format for referencing.

Papers must be in APA. Papers in APA Style should include, in the following order, as many of the following sections as are applicable, with each beginning on a new page: title page, which includes a running head for publication, title, and by-line and affiliation; abstract; text; references; appendixes; author note; footnotes/endnotes; tables; figure captions; and figures. Papers should be typed on standard-sized paper (8.5 X 11 inches), and must not exceed a maximum length of 6 pages or 1500 words (not including the title page, abstract, references, appendixes, footnotes, tables, figure captions, and figures), double-spaced, with margins of one (1) inch on all sides. Students will be evaluated according to the attached rubric.

Daily Quizzes

Due Date: Each class from classes 1 through 8.

Weight: 20%

Students will be expected to read the assigned chapters in the text and other assigned readings and be prepared to write a graded quiz based on these reading assignments.

Daily Summary

Due Date: End of each class from class 1 through 8.

Weight: 10% (1.25% per summary assignment)

Students will conclude each of the classes with a summary of the day's topic that answers the following: What did I learn? What do I need to know more about? What steps do I need to do to be successful in light of what I learned today? Be sure to specifically refer to what was discussed during the class. Write in a reflective journaling style and turn your answers into the facilitator for grading. The paper will have a minimum length of 250 words and contain insight into each of these three questions. N. B. These three questions are there to guide your answers to this assignment, and your facilitator may give you different questions per class, depending on the lessons of the class. Answers are to be written in the last 30 minutes of the class. No answers will be accepted that were prepared prior. If you are absent, you will receive a zero (0).

And write a short case analysis paper (minimum of 750 words), using one of the following theories/approaches (structural-functional approach, social-conflict approach, or symbolic-interaction approach). In doing this analysis, please follow the following guidelines:

1. Describe the theory you have picked to analyze the article
2. From the perspective of the theory you have selected, what is the problem/issue in this case (in the article)?
3. From the perspective of the theory you have selected, what is the solution to the problem/issue in this case (in the article)?
4. Conclusion: your final thoughts

Students will be evaluated according to the attached rubric Case Study Analysis Rubric.

Final Exam

Due Date: Class 10

Weight: 30%

Students will be required to write a final exam consisting of approximately 125 multiple questions and covering the content of classroom learning and assigned text and other readings.
