Note: It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with the information contained in the Course Outline and to clarify any areas of concern with the facilitator.

Course Description:

This course will serve as a practical introduction to the field of sociology. Students will be able to identify and explain the significance of some of the phenomena, methods, and theories of sociology; differentiate between sociological and other questions, theories, and approaches; and interpret a variety of data arrays to assess and make sociological arguments. Related theory, research and analysis related to the field will be examined.

Learning Outcomes:

As a result of active participation in these sessions, a student can expect to:

- Identify and explain the significance of some of the phenomena, methods, and theories of sociology.
- Differentiate between sociological and other questions, theories, and approaches.
- Explain in your own words some of the key concepts of sociology.
- Interpret a variety of data arrays to assess and make sociological arguments.
- Contribute to a group analysis of "both sides" or opposing viewpoints on a controversial issue.
- Apply the concepts, theories, and principles learned from this course to hypothetical situations.
- Communicate information learned from this course to both specialist and non-specialist audiences.

Course Format:

This 45-hour online course uses a variety of teaching/learning methods including discussion, personal reflection, experiential exercises, student presentations, role-plays, group activities and especially case studies. Our faculty aims to create an online synchronous and asynchronous learning environment where the learner is actively engaged in inquiry, critical thinking and problem solving. The online delivery provides you with a place where you can learn with and from others in a cooperative and collaborative manner.

You are expected to take a very active part in class discussions and take responsibility for your own learning. Be a positive and co-operative team member. Columbia College uses a facilitation model of instruction where the facilitator's role is to facilitate your learning. The expectation is that you will come to class prepared with pre-class homework completed. Your facilitator will engage you in activities that are based on your completed homework and readings. Your enthusiastic and positive approach in the classroom will create an atmosphere that will help every student develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes that are needed for success.

How you conduct yourself in our online classes will largely mirror your conduct in society and your future work site. For example, if you tend to ask questions, challenge the ideas of others in a respectful manner, draw out the best from your colleagues, and encourage both group development and task accomplishment in this class, it is likely you will do the same at work. A high level of student involvement and developing professionalism is expected in the classroom as you work towards your goal.

Assignment 2 – Critical Response

Due Date: Class 7

Weight: 25%

Students will be required to choose one of the following topics covering the content of classroom lessons and assigned text and other readings. This project will be a critical response writing activity. You are expected to incorporate class discussions, readings (class/external), other resources to support your talking points.

- Topic 1 (Chapter 5): Define the concepts of in-groups, out-groups, and reference groups, and describe the role of each type of group. Provide examples of the larger societal impact of when these groups interact with each other. How are these groups reflected in our media (social or mass)?
- Topic 2 (Chapter 8): The distinction between the functionalist, conflict, feminist, and interactionist approaches to racial and ethnic inequality is very clear. Briefly outline the approach that each of these perspectives takes and indicate how that approach is related to the overall perspective. Mention specific theories in your analysis.
- Topic 3 (Chapter 12): Discuss the diverse patterns of marriage and families from all four perspectives (functionalist, conflict, feminist, and interactionist) using specific evidence. Explain how your own personal perspective plays a role in your understanding of this topic.

Writing Assignment Expectations:

- Objective: The objective of these writing assignments is to critically apply concepts, ideas, and procedures to facilitate higher level learning. The assignments are designed so students can demonstrate the depth of knowledge related to the course content.
- Focus: This assignment is designed to apply knowledge from the chapters and class discussions.
- Format: These assignments should be typed and double-spaced. Do not include title pages. Include your name at the top of each page. A minimum of one-inch margins on each side. 12-point Calibri font is preferred. Each assignment should have a minimum length of 750 words but is not to exceed 1000 words. Students will be evaluated according to the attached rubric: Critical Response Writing Marking Rubric.

How to avoid plagiarism?

- The simplest way to avoid plagiarism is to reference any source properly (using both in-text, parenthetical citations in the body of your assignment and a "References" page at the end. While it is commonplace to build upon the knowledge of others, it is necessary to clearly state the sources and foundations of that knowledge. Referencing must conform to the APA referencing formats outlined in your ENGL110-1 textbook.

Final Project

Due Date: Class 10

Weight: Reflective paper 15% Presentation 15%

This project will be a Final Reflective paper and an oral presentation based on a feature film of your choice. Your movie choice must reflect the concepts of sociology; please see all chapter summaries that provide you with examples that relate to specific topics. You will have 5 to 7 mins to present. Students will be evaluated according to the attached rubric: Reflective Writing Response Rubric and Oral presentation rubric.

Things to consider:

- What was your thought process from beginning to end when watching this movie?
- Were you aware of the sociological connections to societies? Why or why not? What surprised you?
- When you were presenting this, what part of you was presenting as a "fan" of the movie vs. a sociological perspective?
- Has your opinion changed of this movie since connecting it to sociology topics?

Example:

Aronovsky, D. (2008) The Wrestler.

- Through his sport's subculture, a professional wrestler who has passed his prime travels away from the mainstream.
- Chapter 3 Key Terms: Sub-culture, Norms, Counterculture
- Presentation: Expand upon your movie choice in connection by showcasing your understanding of sociological impacts. This will be a 3-5-minute presentation. Presentation format- Microsoft Teams.
